3Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action. The rejections are disused on paper of 12/22/09. Claims 31-34, newly added, are also disclosed in patent CA'062 (see examples, and the suggestion of the use of the membrane in batteries (entire disclosure).

Double Patenting

The provisional obvious type double patenting rejections discussed on paper of 12/22/08 are discussed.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 3/09/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Examiner review the entire CA'062 reference, and compared the materials and process of making the membrane and resulting membrane from the description and examples in the reference. The Canadian patent '062 uses the same material for the coating layer on the nonwoven polymeric support, the same nonwoven support material, and the same adhesion promoters producing the silicon network as in present invention. Applicant argues that the bonding the silicon network in the prior art Si-O-Si linkages are produced and not SIOR bonding are produced; however, by comparing the adhesive promoters, support material and the coating material or inorganic particles and sol used in the CA patent, the same claimed network can be produced. Applicant has not explain with clarity why or how the same compositions, applied to the same organic support and coating material in the same way, e.g. by coating the support with silicon network adhesive materials or promoters, or by providing the promoters within the sol, produces a distinct network or different linkages between the silica and the support. Teaching of the membrane and process and silicon network generating promoters are disclosed in the entire reference, see examples 1-13. Promoters as MEMO, GLYMO, etc are disclosed (see table at page 14).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
